

Yall Come Back Saloon by The Oak Ridge Boys

Capo 2

C
She played tambourine with a silver jingle

F C
And she must have known the words to at least a million tunes

Am
But the one most requested by the man she knew as cowboy

C Am G7 C
Was the late night benediction at the y'all come back saloon

In a voice soft and trembling she'd sing her song to cowboy

F C
As a smokey halo circled round her raven hair

Am
And all the fallen angels and pinball playing rounders

C Am G7 C
Stopped the games that they'd been playing for the losers evening prayer

F C
Faded love and faded memories

F C
How they lin-ger in her mind

F
Miles and years played the cowboy

C Am D7 G7
Like and old melody out of tune and out of time

C
Every night in the shadows thinking back on Amarillo

F C
He'd dream of better days and ask for faded love

Am
Lifting high his glass in honor of the lady and her song

C Am G7 C
He paid his check then lonely walked that broken cowboy home

C
She played tambourine with a silver jingle

F C
And she must have known the words to at least a million tunes

Am
But the one most requested by the man she knew as cowboy

C Am G7 C
Was the late night benediction at the y'all come back saloon

C
She played tambourine with a silver jingle

F C
And she must have known the words to at least a million tunes

Am
But the one most requested by the man she knew as cowboy

C Am G7 C
Was the late night benediction at the y'all come back saloon

C
She played tambourine with a silver jingle

F C
And she must have known the words to at least a million tunes

Am
But the one most requested by the man she knew as cowboy

Was the late night benediction at the y'all come back saloon