Verse 1

G

A couple guys in first class on a flight from new York to Los Angeles

Bm

Kinda making small talk killin time, flirtin with the flight attendants,

C

Am

Thirty thousand feet above, could be Oklahoma,

G

Just a bunch of square cornfields and wheat farms, man it all looks the same

Bm

Miles and miles of back roads and highways,

C

Connecting little towns with funny names,

Am

D

Who'd want to live down there in the middle of nowhere,

Chorus

Em

C

They've never drove through Indiana,

G

Met the men who plowed that earth,

D

B7

Planted that seed, busted his ass for you and me,

Em

C

Or caught a harvest moon in Kansas,

C

They'd understand why God made those fly over states

Verse 2

G Bm
I bet that mile long Santa Fe freight train engineer's seen it all
Just like that flatbed cowboy stacking U.S. steel on a three day haul
Road and rails under their feet
Am D
Yeah that sounds like a first class seat

Chorus

Em C
On the plains of Oklahoma
G
With a windshield sunset in your eyes
D B7
Like a watercolor painted sky
Em C
You'd think heavens doors have opened
D C
You'll understand why God made those fly over states

Chorus

Em C G
Take a ride across the badlands feel that freedom on your face
D B7
Breathe in all that open space
Em C D
Meet a girl from Amarillo you'll understand why God made
C G
Might even want to plant your stakes in those fly over states
