[Verse 1]
 D
Low down leaving sun, I've done
                             G
Did everything that needs done
         D   B7
Woe is me, why can't I see
     E7   A
I best be leaving well enough alone
Them neon light nights, couldn't stay out of fights
                           G
Them keep a-haunting me in memories
                         D   B7
There is one in every crowd, for crying out loud
      E7   A
Why was it always turning out be me

[Chorus]
Where does it go, the good Lord only knows

```
It seems like it was just the other day
                                D                  B7
I was down at Green Gables, hawking them tables
        E7                                    A
And generally blowing all my hard earned pay
 D
Piano roll blues, danced holes in my shoes
                                       G
There weren't another other way to be
                      D               B7
For loveable losers, no account boozers
       E7        A           D
And honky tonk heroes like me
```
